'Cheap shot?'

Councilman's comments on schools stir debate

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Comments by Councilman Edward Rush at a recent council meeting have triggered a strong rebuttal from Romulus School Board Trustee Richard Campbell.

Rush made note of the fact that the school board had approved another tax abatement for a business in Romulus and said the board had approved several lately. Then he added: "All they ever do is ask for millage."

Sitting in the audience as regular attendees of council meetings were Campbell and Board President Wayne F. Avery, who both took exception to Rush's comment.

Campbell was so upset by what he felt was "a cheap shot," he fired off a letter or rebuttal to Rush and sent copies to all council members, school board trustees and school officials.

"I am writing this letter as an individual trustee of the Romulus Community Schools' Board of Education," Campbell stated. "I attended a City Council hearing in which you made several statements with which I take strong exception.

"Since we hired Bill Bedell as Superintendent, he has stressed to us the importance of good city-school relationships. Because we serve the same taxpayers, it's important for us to work together."

Campbell told Rush he wanted to refute the councilman's comments and point out actions by the Board of Education.

Nesler drops out of board race

School Board candidate Dorothy Nesler announced this week that she will not actively campaign in the June 8 election "for personal reasons."

Mrs. Nesler told the Romulus Roman her decision had to do with "family health problems" but did not want to elaborate. At the same time she heartily endorsed Mrs. Sandra Langley and Dan Bales for the two 4-year seats on the board.

"Although I am not able to pursue my candidacy, I want everyone to know that Mrs. Langley and Mr. Bales are the most qualified to the positions on the school board," Mrs. Nesler said.

Even though Mrs. Nesler is not an active candidate, her name will still appear on the ballot because it is too late to officially withdraw.

Also running for re-election in the June 8 election are Board President Wayne F. Avery, who has served four years, and Mrs. Evelyn Hopewell, who has been a trustee since 1978.

Next week's edition of the Roman will carry pictures and stories of Avery, Bales, Hopewell and Langley, the four candidates seeking the two 4-year terms.

Also on the June 8 school election ballot will be a request for voters to approve an additional 4.5 mills for one year for school operation. The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. June 8.

Beautiful substitute

When Channel 7's Vince Wade called the TV station's beautiful substitute to the inaugural C.J. "Doc" Carpenter Day Chamber of Commerce dinner. The beautiful substitute told a "full house" that the message of the summer poses a serious problem to the economy of this state.

Chamber installation

Full house pays tribute to 'Doc'

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

A "full house" attended the annual C.J. "Doc" Carpenter Day Chamber of Commerce dinner at the Airport Ramada Inn as Joyce Palmer assumed presidency of the local business group last Wednesday.

A festive mood prevailed in the midst of Michigan Week and the large turnout watched Past President Gary Bingamen turn over the reigns to the new Chamber leader.

In addition to seeing Romulus Chamber of Commerce charter members honored with plaques, those in attendance heard Channel 7 newscaster Doris Biscoe describe the mass exodus of businesses from Michigan to sunbelt states.

In describing the large amount of business leaving Michigan for better conditions in the sunbelt states, Miss Biscoe said, "We hate to hit you with doom and gloom. But these are the things we bring to you each night at 6 p.m."

She explained the "bad news" was largely responsible for viewers turning to Channel 50 to watch "M.A.S.H." and "Happy Days."

After detailing some of the more depressing statistics, she offered a ray of hope.

"We have an intangible element that Michigan business leaders need to realize—and that's attitude!" she pointed out. She said that a positive outlook could and would turn things around in this state.

Fellow Channel 7 newscaster, Vince Wade, who was originally scheduled to speak to the Chamber last week, was called down to Texas. Wade originally reported a prize-winning series on Michigan business moving out of the state. He went to Texas for more work on his series and will appear on the national "20/20" ABC television network program.

Robert Brueck, who was emcee for the Chamber's "Doc" Carpenter Day program, introduced the elected officials present, which included Mayor William M. Oakley, Treasurer Beverly McAnally and Mayor Pro-Tem Mary Ann Banks, and school board members

Panel studies closing more school buildings

When you are short of money you use every effective cost-cutting measure possible.

And it's not an easy job.

Just ask Bill Raack, chairman of the Building Consolidation Committee which has met on a regular basis since March.

It's task, as outlined by Romulus School Supt. Bill Bedell, is to develop a plan to consolidate school buildings. "Declining enrollment, increased utility costs and the unstable economy makes it imperative that the school district utilize each building as economically as possible," Raack said.

The Consolidation Committee adopted a three-fold criteria. There must be a closing of a building, a fewer number of students possible, and a projected three-to-four year plan to establish stability.

Also, consideration should be given to the capacity of each building, cost of maintenance and operation, need for major repairs and saleability or alternative use of each building.

Dr. Bedell has furnished the committee information on operating and maintenance cost of each building. The committee has had input from school personnel, real estate representatives and members of the community.

On April 27, the committee recommended to the School Board that South Junior High be closed to students K-12 and that the 9th grade be housed in the Senior High School for the year 1981-82. This will allow the Beacon Community Program and Adult Education classes to be being discussed as alternative uses for the South Junior High building.

The committee recommended investigating the sale or alternate use of the Gordonier and Harrison buildings. Plans are now being completed between the School and City to lease the Romulus Elementary building to the Romulus Police Department.

At the present time, the committee is involved in establishing new boundaries for elementary attendance. This would consolidate students in fewer buildings, saving approximately $120,000 per building. At this time, the committee said it does not plan to recommend elementary closings for the 1981-82 school year. Raack, committee chairman, said the next meeting of the Consolidation Committee is at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, June 9 at the Board of Education Offices.

The job's yours now

Out-going Chamber of Commerce president Gary Bingamen is presented a plaque of appreciation and offered thanks for "a job well done" by newly-installed

Chamber of Commerce president Joyce Palmer during the group's monthly luncheon which was in honor of "Doc" Carpenter.

Proposal A's defeat raises pertinent question

What effect will it have on school millage?

Local School Officials are trying to piece together the impact of the failure of proposal A on their budgets and, more importantly for some, voter attitudes.

Many districts need votes for millage increases and renewals in the next several months, and what the failure of Proposition A means to the outcome of these critical votes is uncertain.

Many school officials appeared to be lukewarm to Proposition A to begin with and its failure is viewed as a long term blessing by some.

Romulus School Superintendent William Bedell explained his district's reasoning. "If Proposal A had passed we would have received some short term benefit because it may have helped improve voter attitude towards millage increases. Over the long haul, however it would have severely limited our revenue potential and delayed our becoming locally independent," he said.

Bedell recently submitted a report that analyzed the advantages of the current property tax system to Romulus residents.

The report warned of the danger of local citizens being too quick to abandon or severely change the current system as was proposed in Proposition A. In several years the Romulus Schools will apparently have such a large tax base because of industrial growth that they will not need basic state aid. This according to Bedell's report, is the idea because the "Out-of-Formula" wealthy districts in the state have more of everything compared to their poorer, state-dependent neighbors.

The report highlighted the advantages to local residents of the current tax systems.

"There are procedures currently in place that make the property tax system in the State of Michigan one of the best approaches from a Romulus point of view," Bedell said. "The current system is better for local residents than many of the proposal changes, and if changes need to be made it should be done within the current system."

Property tax relief already exists in the form of the homestead property tax rebate system and the state and federal income tax deductions, the report points out. The system is known as the "circuit breaker" approach and it has been yielding millions of dollars of tax relief for a number of years now.

The report gives examples: A homeowner with a household income of $20,000 and a property tax of $1,200 or more would receive a state income tax credit of 60 cents and a federal income tax deduction of 24 cents on every dollar of increase in property tax. This means he recovers 84 cents of each dollar increase.

A homeowner with a $30,000 income and a similar property tax payment gets 60 cents back from the state and 33 cents from the federal for a net return of 93 cents for each one dollar. Senior citizens on low income can receive as much as 100 percent of their taxes back, he pointed out.

Bedell's report points out two basic problems with the system as it is now implemented. First, there is a $21,000 limit per homestead that probably needs to be changed upward each year.

"In addition, the system is confusing and complicated and the refund has to be delayed until a citizen files state and federal income taxes. Many people do not relate these rebates to their property tax, so they are angry with the system."

"This anger has resulted in movements such as the one led by Drain Commissioner Robert Tisch designed to completely change the property tax system as we know it," Bedell said.

He emphasized in his report that this is probably a bad idea from the average Romulus resident standpoint. "For example," Bedell stated, "with an average Romulus income per year and a house worth approximately $50,000, a citizen would be on the tax rolls for assessing purposes at $25,000.

"If the 4.5 mills being voted on June 8th were approved his tax liability through summer and winter tax would be $113, but he would receive approximately $77 of this back in state rebates and federal and state income tax deductions.

"The net cost would be $36 for the year or $3 a month. In addition, for each dollar the homeowner gives the schools, industry in Romulus gives a dollar also. This is difficult to believe because of the awkward system, but it is absolutely true," Bedell said.

At the end of his report, Bedell urged everyone who has questions, needs help with completing their tax forms, or seeks other information to contact him at 941-1600.

Small business is offered glimmer of hope

If small business and small businesses are to survive in Michigan "the state must work together with them to create a positive environment for job production."

Those are the words of John Hull, who was the Director of the Conference on Small Business which recently ended its statewide meeting in Lansing.

Some 300 delegates attended that conference, a three-day affair that brought together the executive, legislative as well as the small business community.

"I believe the agenda itself and the top 15 priorities, was one of the most important things to come out of the conference," Hull added. "Also, I feel that the conference played a major role in pulling Small Business together and getting them actively involved in the process of determining public policies."

Hull pointed out that "this conference brought together the private sector into the business of economic development in this state — that is essential — and I think that that was one of the most significant events that surrounded the whole conference."

The 300 delegates, two-thirds of whom were elected by their peers, while others were appointed by state legislators and Governor Milliken, have adopted an agenda which included 15 recommendations that will be submitted to the Governor and the state legislators.

"I think in my judgment what the agenda reflects is a need for the state to invest in the potential and the opportunities that small businesses present and can present when obviously given the positive environment in creating of jobs."

"I think when one looks at the agenda," Hull continued, "you will see that most of the issues, priorities relate to the bottom line of what it costs to do business here in Michigan, and I feel that one thing small business is saying is that it needs a commitment from this state."

Hull stressed that small business wants recognition first from the state on where the jobs come from and then the investments on the part of the state to work in partnership with small business to give them the opportunity to produce those jobs.

Representing the area and an appointment by Gov. Milliken as delegates to the conference were Frank McMurray, a Canton businessman who, along with David J. Willett, Publisher of the Associated Newspapers, served as the Governor's Executive Council.

Also from Canton was Gary Roberts, owner of Canton Vacuum Co., who was a delegate.

Wayne delegates included Mayor Patrick Norton, who was there as a delegate and not as an official representative of the city: Ron Cobb, of Cobb Pharmacy; attorney Murray J. Miller; and Dale A. Weston, President of Professional Insurance.

Westlander Steven Lindmyer, owner of National Block and Inkster businessman James Q. Jones, also were delegates.

'Self Portrait'

Art students look at themselves

Art students at Romulus High School have a better "self-image" of themselves.

Especially after making self-portraits of earthenware and painting full-size likenesses or murals of fellow students.

Under the direction of Mrs. Beverly J. Kellogg, Art teacher and Art chairman, the students in Art I and Art II classes recently "outdid themselves" in projects wrapping up the school year.

"The students did just a fantastic job and I'm really proud of the talent and effort they showed in doing the self-portraits," Mrs. Kellogg said.

The subject was "You—personal identification and identity," a project that helped the students better identify with themselves. "It was an exercise to better acquaint each student with his or her self-concept and self-image," she said.

The project was divided into three sections which the students could choose. They were: terra cotta full-size portrait busts, full-size self-portraits—tempera on paper, or painting a mural of students on the wall.

The terra cotta portrait bust could be either of themselves or a portrait of someone else in the art classes. The mural project was each student doing his own portrait—acrylic paint done with flat enamels and then detail was added with black line work.

Students doing work on portrait busts included: Lonzo Clark, Sandy Kulka, Otha Green, Caroline Durham, Paul Rowell, Andrea Hughes, Brian Cook, Peggy Davidson, Jeff Krapitz and Jackie Jermigan.

Students doing murals were Brian Cook, Chuck Myslinski, Kris Kalfayan, Jackie Jernigan, Tim Summerfield, John Kennedy, Peggy Davidson, Michelle Gray, Lonzo Clark, Kim Warden, Caroline Stinson, Angela Bawcum, Paul Roell, Tracey Zabik, Gene Labiak, Andrea Hughes and Anita Bailey.

Wayne A. Avery, president, and Richard Campbell.

Then he introduced newly-elected Chamber president, Joyce Palmer. She in turn had each guest stand and introduce themselves and what business they represented.

She seemed calm and composed when she said, "I feel very proud and honored to be elected," but admitted afterward she was nervous. She thanked Past President Gary Bingamen for his dedicated service to the community and presented him with a plaque.

"I also want to say how much C.J. 'Doc' Carpenter meant to all of us, and after whom this day is named," she said. "He helped organize the Romulus Chamber of Commerce in 1978 and was instrumental in getting it off to a good start."

The late Dr. Carpenter, who passed away two years ago, had a well-known medical practice in Wayne and was known for his generosity all over the area. He was noted for helping minister to people who could not afford medical treatment.

Bingamen spoke briefly and thanked everyone for their help during his tenure as president.

"I want to say thank you to the original board of directors and to everyone who helped make the Chamber what it is today. I want to pay tribute to John Shea former administrative assistant to Mayor Oakley. Mr. Shea was valuable in contacting businessmen in the community and getting them interested in the

Bingamen stressed the need to "stay united and work together to accomplish our goals."

He again offered his appreciation to the past board and concluded by saying, "They wouldn't let me off completely—they elected me Executive Director."

Charter members of the Chamber's board of directors, Pete Bergeron, 2nd Vice-president; Bob Brueck, 1st vice-president; Ron Hopson, 1st vice-president and John Brimble, were presented plaques for their contributions.

The Executive Board consists of Mrs. Palmer, president, ARC Real Estate, Inc.; Dennis Currier, 1st vice-president, Michigan Oven; Bill Cox, 2nd vice-president, Farmers Insurance; Leo Kalota, treasurer, Manufacturers National Bank; Marilyn Moore, secretary, Moore Brothers Sand and Gravel; and Gary Bingamen, executive director, G.L. Bingamen Agency.

Executive Secretary of the Chamber is Pat Cadden.

Members on the board of directors include: Nancy Gilmore, Performance Group, Inc.; Joe Demusky, Kelsey-Hayes; Bill Logan, Solventol Chemical; Dr. Ray Elwart, Romulus Chiropractic Clinic; Doug Todd, Federal Mogul; Jerry Mindey, Alert Glass; Felix Rogalle, attorney; Mel Morgan, Morgan-Lentine Investment Co.; Ted Dames, Metro Industrial Clinic; Tim Hellrung, and Jerry Hill, Detroit-Diesel Allison.

Bill Simonds, owner of Bilmar's Supermarket, is an ex-officio board member.

tion and school staff that proved the school district was working as closely as possible with the city.

"On two occasions since last fall, we have passed resolutions and sent letters supporting the establishment of tax abatement districts," Campbell stated. "We did this even though there was no legal requirement for us to participate and even though in the long run if we become an 'out of formula' school district, there will be a loss of funding to us."

Campbell also pointed out that the city's Downtown Development District officials requested the board to do something in support of their stand against topless entertainment at the Landing Strip Lounge.

"While the board is sympathetic with their point of view, we refrained from passing a resolution in regard to the matter until the City Council could take action. We felt that was more appropriate in your area and that we should only join in after you had a chance to react," Campbell told Rush.

Campbell informed Rush that the school board and staff has "provided school space and some staff assistance in the testing of potential police officers."

"We have been working hard over the past several months with the mayor in an attempt to provide a police facility at Romulus Elementary School so that the community can have these vital services," the board trustee added.

"We provided staff and made every effort we could to cooperate with the joint-City-School auction. We are working hard with your attorney in developing a joint position on the airport lawsuit. This is costing the school district a considerable amount of legal fees."

Campbell closed by telling Rush the school board had even joined the city in its legal battle against DetRo Recovery Products.

"We have joined with the city in the DetRo lawsuit in an attempt to protect our two newest buildings and offer our citizens the additional support in their battle against this undesirable facility."

Campbell rebuked Rush for his, "All they ever do is ask for millage" comment.

"If you understood school financing in Michigan, you would know that to properly educate our children, we must have more local funding."

"As a Board of Education and a school staff, we have been doing everything possible to build a positive relationship with the city because we understand that we serve the same taxpayers and they view us in the same light. We hope to continue these efforts and look forward to your cooperation," Campbell's letter concluded.

A week later, Councilman Rush issued a reply to Campbell. "In response to your communication, let me state first that I am not aware of the comment referred to about an 'out of formula' school district."

"Second, if tax abatement could cause 'Out of Formula,' it is incumbent upon you, if no one else, to speak out on this matter at City Council meetings since you attend quite regularly."

"I hope your lack of participation or understanding of 'Out of Formula' has not caused an action that could add to the financial burden on the school system," Rush replied.

"I certainly hope you will now start explaining 'Out of Formula' and discussing its impact and its educational effect on the students in the City of Romulus. Hopefully my actions have given rise to discussions of very important issues before us."

Rush told Campbell that the trustee's comment about the topless bar had "little reflection on my comments about taxes and could be more appropriately dealt with elsewhere."

Rush said Campbell's statements about "providing space for testing potential police officers, leasing a vacant school for the city's police headquarters, and providing staff for the City-School auction was what he was elected to do."

"(These) are the precise reasons you are elected and these actions are expected, if not demanded by the electorate," Rush told Campbell. "I regret you need to be reassured of your performance," Rush stated.

Rush told Campbell that the trustee's point about a joint position on the airport lawsuit "is not germane to my comment, but yes, the City of Romulus has expended a great deal of money, and possibly more co-operation is needed between the City and Board of Education so as not to double-dip the money of taxpayers, whom we both serve."

Rush told Campbell he was happy the school board had joined the DetRo Recovery Products litigation case. "To date, the city of Romulus has expended $14,163.60, and I presume from your letter, where you state 'we have joined,' you will, forthwith, transmit a check in the amount of $7,081.80, made payable to the city of Romulus, to cover the school board's portion of same."

Rush took a somewhat caustic swipe at Campbell when he wrote, "If the recent millage request had been understood by all School Board members, the vote to put same on the ballot would have been unanimous. Therefore, is your statement inferring that I do not understand school financing applicable to the School Board?"

Actually, the board voted 6-1 to place the 4.5 operating mills on the June 8 ballot. Shirley Lombardi was the only trustee to dissent, even though all six other trustees approved the millage "reluctantly," they said.

Rush closed his letter by stating, "I also add that in addition to local funding, you need local accountability."

"Hopefully, you have been enlightened and now have a broader conception of all the special situations mentioned in your letter."

City budget hearing set

Romulus residents are urged to attend two vital public hearings coming up on June 2 and June 9 in council chambers of City Hall, 11111 S. Wayne Road.

At 7:30 p.m. next Tuesday, there will be a public hearing on the General Fund Budget and Revenue Sharing Budget during which citizens will have an opportunity to give their input to City Council.

At 7 p.m. on Tuesday, June 9, there will be public hearing at which citizens can give their comments regarding activities at the Landing Strip Lounge in downtown Romulus.

The Landing Strip, which features topless go-go dancers as entertainment, has been the object of a citizen's petition to have the topless dancing stopped.

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry asked Council to investigate the activities at the bar and requested input from new Police Chief Donald Flood, Wayne County Sheriff's Department and the Liquor Control Commission. Council voted 6-0 to approve the public hearing, with Councilman Richard Yeramian abstaining.

Romulus Clergy, school officials and senior citizens have said they plan to turn out in force at the public hearing and urged all city residents to come to the meeting.

Challenging brighter students

Romulus School Board recently approved a recommendation to create a program for gifted and talented students in grades K-6 for the 1981-82 school year. A 20-member citizen and school staff committee worked extensively for seven months to develop the program. Beginning next September, between 100 and 140 eligible elementary students will be offered an opportunity to attend the program, one day a week, during each of two 6-week sessions. Looking over the accelerated learning materials are Marvin Fischer, assistant superintendent for Curriculum and Instruction (from left); Jean Weiler, teacher at Hale Creek School, Shirley Germaine, teacher at Merriman School, Jo Ann Marviesin, School Board treasurer, and Richard Goode, principal of Wick Elementary School. Great Kings of Africa coming to area

A true artistic treat is in store for residents of the metropolitan area when the "Great Kings of Africa" arrive on Monday, June 1. This unique African Exhibit consists of life-like original oil paintings commissioned by the Anheuser-Busch Company of St. Louis, Missouri.

The June 1 Exhibit Premiere, will consist of a wine and cheese reception from 7:00-9:30 p.m. at the Inkster Recreation Complex, 2025 Middlebelt Road in Inkster. There will be no admission charge.

The "Great Kings" Exhibit will be complimented by authentic African artifacts furnished by the Afro-American Museum of Detroit, and African artifacts furnished by the Afro-American Museum of Detroit, and African Handicraft fashioned by the Inkster Parks and Recreation artists under the leadership of Mrs. Vivian Hearsey. School and community groups are invited to schedule tours of the exhibition (June 2 through June 4).

The exhibit is being brought to the area by the Eta Iota Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. Dr. Phyllis Robinson, coordinator of the exhibit, announced that "bringing the Great Kings to Inkster is a real source of pride for us! The paintings have traveled to almost every major city in the United States, to be viewed by nearly five million people."

She added that "television viewers may remember seeing a few of the "Great Kings" in advertisements presented during the showing of "Roots: The Next Generations". Notable among the Great Kings are Menelek II (1844-1913), a descendant of the legendary Queen of Sheba and King Solomon, and King Taharqa of Nubia, who at the age of sixteen led his army against the invading Assyrians in defense of his ally, Isreal. This action earned him a place in the Bible, Isaiah 37:9, 2 Kings 19:9."

The significant achievements of these Great Kings will be high lighted in educational brochures which will be distributed by the Sorority. Included will be geographical sketches of the fine artists commissioned to render the portraits.

Capturing the likeness of each King was no small challenge to the artists. Some even traveled to Africa in order to properly research the physical attributes, styles and personalities of the kings. Menelek II of Abyssinia was the only King contemporary enough to be painted from a photograph. Two outstanding Michigan artists, Carl Owens of Detroit and Paul Collins of Grand Rapids were among those so commissioned. They have been invited to participate in the June 1 Reception.

The Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority sponsors numerous service projects for the metropolitan community. A major thrust of their programs is to support educational and cultural experiences for youth and adults.

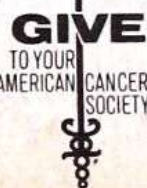

In the Inkster area, extensive resources are channeled into summer reading programs to reinforce basic skills, cultural and fine arts appreciation, and health related projects for senior citizens and other needy groups.

The Premiere Reception is being chaired by Soror Annette Lewis, a member of the Inkster Board of Education. Other committee members include Sorors Margaret Williams, Delores James, Bobby Jordan, Mary Moss, Daren Dudley, Wilzetta Williams, Jetta Jackson, Phyllis Robinson, and Helen Felton, Chapter Basileus. Those interested in arranging group tours of the four-day Exhibition may call the Inkster Recreation Center at 728-7530. On hand to serve as tour guides will be Sorors Ola Spinks, Marian Shelton, Marjorie Frazier and Wilzetta Williams.

Beta Kappa honors

Four Belleville High seniors: Steve Ghanam (from left), Patrick McClelland, Tim Knowlton and Kevin Quinlan were recognized for their academic achievements by the Detroit Association of Phi Beta Kappa. The students achieved a 3.8 average or better in math, lab science, English, social science and foreign language during their sophomore, junior and senior years as well as demonstrated good citizenship while in high school.

U.S. Army reserves to dedicate new headquarters in area

The 300th Military Police Command, U.S. Army Reserve, has announced it will hold dedication ceremonies and public open house at the Zussman Army Reserve Center in Inkster on Sunday, May 31.

The center is at 3200 S. Beech Daly Rd., about a half mile south of Michigan Avenue on the border between Inkster and Dearborn Heights.

Guest speaker for the 1:30 p.m. dedication ceremony will be Dr. Marjorie S. Ross, a Battle Creek optometrist and civic leader who serves as the Civilian Aide to the Secretary of the Army for Michigan.

The Army Secretary has a civilian aide in each state, who keeps him informed about community opinion in the state and helps him explain the Army's needs and policies to the state's citizens and their leaders. The ceremony will end about 2:15 p.m.

Highlight of the open house which follows the ceremony will be a rappelling demonstration, with soldiers sliding down ropes from a UH-60A Blackhawk helicopter hovering almost 100 feet above the ground. The Blackhawk is the Army's most modern troop-carrier helicopter.

The rappelling demonstration will take place about 2:45 p.m., weather permitting, after which the Blackhawk will land so that visitors can get a close-up look.

The band from the Army Reserve's 70th Division (Training), which will perform during the ceremony, will also put on a concert of patriotic and popular music following the rappelling demonstration, at about 3 p.m.

A host of other displays and demonstrations will reflect the cooperation among the three parts of the modern "Total Army" — the Active Army, the Army National Guard and the Army Reserve.

Features will include static displays of an AH-1S Cobra gunship helicopter from the Active Army's 101st Airborne Campbell.

Visitors will get to try their own hands at a tank gunnery simulator (a sophisticated "electronic war game" used to train real tank crews), supplied by Chrysler Defense Inc., as well as Army communications equipment and a keypunch machine used by Army Reservists at the center.

The 300th MP Command, which is headquartered in the Zussman Center, will display an Army field kitchen, individual weapons and other Army equipment.

The Zussman Center was recently expanded and renovated and became the new home of the 300th, which was formerly in Livonia, last fall. It was originally built in the early 1960's and is named for Second Lieutenant Raymond Zussman, a Detroit-area native who won the Medal of Honor shortly before he was killed in action in Europe in World War II. Other Reserve units used it until it was remodeled for the 300th.

Mayor William M. Daniels and the city council of Inkster have declared the ceremony and open house to be an integral part of their city's Memorial Day observances.

Inkster police will be on hand to help with traffic and parking. On-street parking is available on streets around the center (subject to one-side only restrictions in some places to assure access for emergency vehicles).

There is also some off-street parking at the Robichaud High School-Allen Junior High complex on the east side of

Huron school board approves funds for 'Let's Read' program

By GAIL JORGENSEN

"Let's Read," a program popularized by Detroit News columnist June Brown, will be offered in Huron Township this summer.

The School Board last week approved the use of Miller Elementary School for the reading classes, which will be held July 6-24, from 9-12 a.m.

Impetus for having "Let's Read" in Huron came from New Boston resident Diane Kemeny. She had purchased the "Let's Read" textbook several years ago and taught her two older boys to read from it.

"When they got in first grade, they were both reading really well," she said. "The book works."

With a third child now ready for the program, Mrs. Kemeny hoped to enroll him in an actual "Let's Read" class rather than teach him herself. The program did not exist in the Huron Township area, so June Brown suggested Mrs. Kemeny start one herself.

"Let's Read" teaches children to read using phonics and linguistics, Mrs. Kemeny explained. They learn letter sounds in the form of words that rhyme, for example.

"The children learn to read quickly, and this encourages them and builds their confidence," she continued.

The "Let's Read" program is free except for the cost of the textbook ($12.50) and workbook ($2.50). It is open to anyone who wants to learn to read, or to read better, Mr. Kemeny stressed.

In Huron, there is an age limit of five years, and students must know the alphabet. A parent must accompany children 13 years of age and under.

Area residents will find the most convenient registration session to be 11 a.m. June 20 at the Children's Book Mark in Fairlane Town Center, Dearborn. For further information about registration, call June Brown at 222-2032.

Huron's 'Top 10' students honored

The "top ten" seniors at Huron High School were honored at last week's meeting of the Huron School Board.

The Board presented Certificates of Recognition to the ten students, who had the highest grade point averages in this year's graduating class.

High school principal Jon Stevens told about the activities each student had been involved in, and the honors he or she had received.

The students, who attended the School Board meeting with their parents, were: Sarah Renton and Linda Krzyski (co-valedictorians), Margaret Danowski and Mark Martin (co-salutatorians), Lorrie Hall, Sarah Richert, Laura Hunt, Jennifer Smith, Teresa Bonner and Leroy Robbins.

Graduation ceremonies will be held June 5 at 7:30 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Featured speaker will be

Rev. Trofien of St. Paul's Lutheran Church, New Boston.

The valedictorians and salutatorians will also speak at the ceremony.

Huron High School is graduating 175 students this year.

Ben Franklin reincarnated

Actor brings history to Elwell School

For one brief moment history leaped out of the books and came alive for students at Elwell Elementary School.

And the students can thank Ralph Archibald whose vivid portrayal of versatile Benjamin Franklin made it all seem real.

Franklin, statesman, writer, printer, inventor, who lived from 1706-1790, was reincarnated and visited Elwell Elementary courtesy of the Elwell PTO. Mrs. Carol Binert, Elwell PTO President who saw "Ben" on television and asked him to come to the school. "We want him to talk to the children about the importance of reading and utilizing the library and to bring history alive," she pointed out.

"Franklin told the students he was good in reading, however, was asked to leave school because of his poor arithmetic grades.

"Franklin" indicated he is credited with beginning the first circulation library in the United States, the first fire department, and renovated the United States Postal System, as well as inventing his famous "Franklin stove."

He held the students spellbound as he told of his harrowing kite flying experience. However, he was quick to warn the children the dangers of flying a kite in the rain.

Ben Franklin was portrayed by Archibald, a fascinating entertainer from Dearborn. Archibald has appeared on P.M. Magazine and Kids Are People Too. During his summer months he is employed by Greenfield Village to portray Mr. Franklin.

Franklin, incarnated

Although in real life he's entertainer-actor Ralph Archibald, he can easily shift roles and be mistaken for American's first versatile inventor-printer-statesman: Ben Franklin. Dressed in colonial garb, Archibald visited Elwell to offer bits of wisdom and advice on the needs of book-learning.

Romulus class of 76 planning reunion

Romulus High School Class of 1976 is planning its five year reunion.

The reunion is to be held August 7, at the Fandango Hall on Eureka Road in Taylor, (21209 Eureka at I-75). The fun will begin at 7 p.m. for cocktails, dinner at 8, and dancing at 9. The entertainment is by a local band, Ever After. Tickets are priced at $18.

For further information, please call Diane L. Banks at 721-2632 (till 8 p.m.), or 942-0533 (mornings and late evenings), or call Tami Kilgore at 946-9510 (9-5), or 295-0825 (evenings).

Fogarty receives

U-M degree

Mark Fogarty, a graduate of Belleville High's class of 1974, was among the 146 dental students who received their degrees this month from the University of Michigan School of Dentistry.

Fogarty, who is the son of Martin and Carolyn Fogarty of Belleville, presently resides in Ann Arbor.

TEETH ARE TOUGH... BUT...

Teeth are tough! Did you know that the outside layer of teeth (the enamel) is the second hardest naturally occurring substance. Only diamond is harder. That's one reason why more human teeth are found as prehistoric relics than any other part of the body.

It seems paradoxical that such a fabulously hard substance should be such easy prey to decay. It's amazing how teeth can decay in short order from contact with sugar and its eventual chance into enamel-eating acid.

Another thing to be careful of is eating extremely hot and cold foods together. For example, drinking hot coffee while eating ice cream is liable to make teeth crack, because tooth enamel and the dentin underneath it expand and contract at different rates as they react to temperature changes. Tooth enamel is not damaged by hot liquids, but if something cold is consumed immediately afterward, the enamel contracts and could crack. Hot drinks are usually about 140 degrees Fahrenheit, ice cream is about 35 degrees. That much sudden change can be harmful to teeth.

Kiwanians count club members in U.S. Congress

A total of 78 members of the 97th United States Congress are active or honorary members of Kiwanis, it was announced today by Ron Sierota, president of the Kiwanis Club of Belleville.

In addition, 20 members of the current Canadian national Parliament are Kiwanians, too, the club president said.

In making the announcement, the Kiwanis president said that such notables as Senators Baker, Dole, Goldwater and Jackson are members of U.S. Kiwanis clubs.

Sierota said that the recently completed survey of Kiwanis participation in the highest legislative bodies of both the United States and Canada dramatizes the extent to which Kiwanians involve themselves in leadership responsibilities.

DO WIDOWERS NEED HELP?

A respected minister we know quotes scripture appropriately to make his point. Borrowing a page from his text, the following passage of Genesis comes to mind:

"It is not good that the man should be alone..." So, too, after a man loses his life's mate, his dearly-loved companion, he should not be left alone. No, we do not mean that he should hastily re-marry. We mean that his friends should not forsake him because his status has changed; because he is now a widower.

In our couple-oriented society, the widower is disadvantaged by his singularity. Make him welcome as before. Share your hospitality with him as you did before. Go out of your way a little to seek his company, his conversation. Help make his grieving easier by sharing with him your presence and caring, as we know you do.

This "reaching out" by you will be important to him immediately after the funeral and for many months to come.

Bigelow's Garden & Lawn Tips

Nurturing plants need a 'lot of love'

By OLIVER W. BIGELOW

You don't need a long list of horticulture degrees to nurture a leaf or two. Nurturing plants calls for ingenuity, coupled with an abiding love and respect for living things.

Ingenuity comes into the picture when deciding on a garden site. For those of us who don't have lots of land, especially land with good sun exposure, there is an alternative.

You can grow enough fresh vegetables to brighten up your spring and summer menus by using containers.

For example, you can use a washtub or half-barrel to grow all the peas you need. Run strings up to a center pole, and let the vines form a tepee. Cherry tomatoes make attractive hanging-basket plants.

A strawberry jar is a fine place to grow a portable assortment of herbs, Thyme, parsley, chives, oregano and basil are good choices.

Try box gardens on the patio or along the driveway. They're relatively easy to care for and harvest, and actually brighten up the landscape. If you plan on more than one box, choose different sizes for a more pleasing visual effect.

Fill the boxes with a mixture of potting soil, perlite or vermiculite, peat moss or compost and bone meal. Remember that one of the basic functions of soil is to hold the plants and roots upright. Windy weather brings about a need for a heavier soil to weigh down the containers.

Container soil also dries out quicker because, unlike top soil, it can't soak moisture from the water table through capillary action. Therefore, water at least every other day. During dry, hot spells, water everyday.

Vegetables that grow especially well in containers are tomatoes, lettuce, cucumbers, potatoes, eggplant, and root crops like carrots, beets and onions.

Without a doubt, tomatoes offer the best yield per cubic inch of space. Larger varieties will need a container large enough to accommodate the larger root systems.

Lettuce is a cool season crop that can tolerate partial shade. Loose-leaf types are preferred by many gardeners because the outer leaves can be picked as they develop, while the main plant is allowed to remain and continue producing.

Remember to devote most of the space to foods your family will use and enjoy.

Additional information is available in: "Gardening in Containers," Brooklyn Botanical Gardening, 1000 Washington Ave., Brooklyn, New York 11225, or in a handbook by the same title published by Lane Books for the Sunset series.

What do state taxpayers want?

Can Michigan voters expect any tax relief now that Proposal A has met with resounding defeat?

The answer to that question will hinge on the State Legislature's ability to draft a bill that deals with the shortcomings of the ill fated Proposal A.

If the Legislature learns from that mistake, it will seek a way to lower property taxes while at the same time cutting back in the costs of government.

On May 14 we suggested that Proposal A left too many unanswered questions, too many loose ends in urging its defeat. We also called for a return to the drawing board to develop a program that would provide tax relief without a sales tax increase or any of the ambiguities which clouded the real issue.

And the real issue remains the same today as before the vote on Proposal A—tax relief must be forthcoming for the state's property owners. By lowering taxes for single family home owners, the Legislature will help stabilize the influence of home ownership and family life in our communities.

This tax relief can be achieved, we firmly believe, without implementation of any radical tax plan that would cripple human services, education and local government. There is no need to panic and tear apart the state's tax structure entirely simply because Proposal A has been rejected.

Michigan's electorate has nixed the Legislature's latest proposal and has previously spurned the offerings of tax reformist Robert Tisch. The message appears clear—the middle ground between Proposal A and Tisch must be explored.

Explored immediately. Understandably, cutting the expense of big government won't be easy. Some legislators' pet projects will have to be delayed, if not cancelled.

But if these cuts are not started, property tax relief will remain what it is today, "an idea."

It can be a reality. The ball once again is in the Legislature's hands.

Memorial Day is tranquil one

Memorial Day was celebrated again on Monday and many citizens paid their respects to the fallen soldiers who made their freedom secure.

But many others, with no thought of memorials, frolicked in the sun, ate too much food at picnics and were nursing sore muscles yesterday. There was indeed much to be thankful for and one of the blessings of the eventful day was the safety on the highway.

It was predicted that some six percent more drivers would be on the crowded highways over the long Memorial weekend and that campgrounds would be more packed than ever.

The motorists, picnickers and travelers were out in droves as predicted, but the good part is the number of accidents—especially of a serious nature—was way down. Police all over Associated Newspapers' circulation area—and that includes nine communities in Western Wayne County—reported that accidents were reduced tremendously.

"It was a very safe weekend by just about every standard of measurement," one police official told us.

So, while we pause to pay homage to the fallen soldiers—and they deserve our utmost, because they gave their utmost—let's also pause to thank God for the safety displayed on the highway.

Whether it is the increased awareness on the part of drivers, or police and AAA traffic safety programs, we don't know. But we do know that we are very happy with the low accident results—and that is by far the most important thing.

Here's how I feel about WCG hospital

EDITOR—In response to an editorial of May 8, 1981, "Our Opinions"—"Unloading Wayne County General," which appeared in a metropolitan newspaper, I would like to say a few things as a taxpayer and a resident of Wayne County since 1969.

You stated "Two separate and independent examinations of Wayne County General Hospital's operations—by the Greater Detroit Area Hospital Council and the Wayne County Efficiency Task Force—have concluded that the hospital is inefficient and should be disposed of."

How these two organizations came to their conclusions is beyond me. No one bothered to ask me or any resident of Wayne County what they thought about its operations. What these two organizations failed to realize is that what comes out on paper, does not always hold true, ask any housewife.

The Council noted that in the fiscal year 1979, it cost almost twice as much to care for patients at Wayne County General as it did at other hospitals serving the same volume of patients with comparable health problems, which leaves me to believe that the hospital as they compared Wayne County with are not designated as major trauma centers, are not teaching hospitals nor do they have major outpatient clinics. They indicated that Wayne County General Hospital has 409 beds when actually it is only 340 beds.

On May 2nd, my son was treated for a laceration which was sutured and pronounced perfectly OK at a private hospital's emergency room. After suffering for two days and nights, I took my son to the Wayne County General Hospital Emergency Room where they discovered a piece of metal still in his leg and which he is still under treatment for.

However, during my wait in the emergency room, victims from four separate automobile accidents were brought in and one accident involved four teenagers seriously injured.

During my short wait all these patients were processed, cared for, relatives notified, etc. in a most efficient and organized way. At no time during this hectic period of waiting and notifications did anyone first ask "Do you have insurance; how do you intend to pay for this?" This question was no doubt asked at some time during the patient's treatment program, but it wasn't asked first.

I have come to the conclusion that in order to understand the Task Force and the Greater Area Detroit Council recommendations, you must first look at who these people are and which organizations they really represent. Certainly not the residents of Wayne County. I also wonder whether or not they have even taken the time to come to the Hospital and actually see for themselves just what goes on at this place they "want to dispose of," on any given day.

There is a saying which I have changed just a little and that is "It is difficult to soar with eagles when you have turkeys rendering decisions they know nothing about."

The Other Side of the Meridian

Myths on foreign policy

By TOM MOORADIAN
Managing Editor

Mayor William M. Daniels punched so many holes into some of our accepted axioms on U.S. Foreign Policy that when he got through it resembled a hunk of Swiss Cheese.

History teaches most of us that Uncle Sam gives, and gives and gives the needy nations and usually gets nothing back in return.

In fact, we have become known by most of these countries as "Ugly Americans."

Not so says Mayor Daniels.

Daniels had a unique opportunity last weekend to sit in on briefings organized by the State Department on Foreign Affairs. He was one of 29 public officials throughout the United States to receive the invitation from the State Department to go to Washington for first hand information.

"I, like most Americans, had this idea that when we talked about foreign aid and foreign affairs that we always were on the shortend of the deal," the Inkster mayor said. "That just isn't always the case. I thought the money or aid was given without any strings attached. Believe me there are strings there, usually not visible to our eyes, but they're there."

The 29 officials were greeted by Alexander Haig, Secretary of State, who touched on the world problems including the problem area such as Lebanon, Israel and Russian intervention in strategic and sensitive areas across the globe.

Mayor Daniels pointed out and stressed that food plays a key role in negotiations across the world.

"World hunger is still a problem that mankind hasn't solved," Daniels added. "The underdeveloped countries are barely existing, and it remains a duel between the haves and the have-nots."

Some of the VIPs that Daniels and the group conferred with included:

Charles Wick, Director-designate of the International Communication Agency; Myer Rashish, Undersecretary of State Designate for Economic Affairs; Congressman William H. Gray, III Chairman of the Congressional Black Caucus Committee of Foreign Affairs and member of the National Security Council and Defense Department.

Mayor Daniels also met with former Ambassador Donald McHenry, who is an Inkster resident, assistant Secretary of State for Africa Richard Moose, and Randall Robinson, Executive Director of Trans-Africa.

Someone once wrote that "Promises don't fill bellies." Is the State Department making promises that it can't or won't fulfill?

"There is no utopia," replied Daniels. "Problems, like the poor, have been with societies since the dawn of civilization. I sincerely feel the United States is trying to cooperate with the world community to solve our social problems."

"But there is just so much one person, one country can do," he continued. "I think the best way to put it is that our philosophy is 'We'll help, but you also have to help yourself.'"

Can't knock that, can you?

Questions about our local school finances

The taxpaying citizens of the Wayne-Westland School District should be informed that an audit has been requested by State Rep. Thomas Brown and private citizens and is being done to reveal the full disposition of the 1977 School Bond Issue for $19.6 million for school repairs.

There are grave questions being asked for a full disclosure to the public of the above-mentioned Bond Issue Funds.

First of all, the propriety of using the proceeds from the sale of the seven schools that we closed for GENERAL OPERATING EXPENSE when the school district is at, or near, the top limit of bonded indebtedness is being questioned.

Why were not the funds from the sales of the closed buildings used to reduce our very large bonded-indebtedness?

If that isn't enough, we can go much further and question the usage of the 4½ million dollars in interest income generated from the above 19.6 million dollars bond issue—also, used to pay general operating expense.

What will be used next year to meet the badly-bloated budget when the bond monies ($19.6 million) have run out?

How many more schools will be closed to use the proceeds to pay operating expenses?

Where did the following monies go? (This is taken from the 1977 Bond Issue Cost Sheet). Money saved from renovation not done:

|-----------------|-------------|
| Closed schools  | $792,143   |
| Nankin Mills    | $2,100,542 |
| Admin. Building | $1,180,000 |
| TOTAL           | $4,082,685 |

Saved on above only: 10 percent contingency fund plus 12 percent inflation fact—$995,990;
Cleveland Site Nature Centers—

$275,852.

$303,000 Original budget

-$27,148 work done

Interest from $19.6 million equals

$4,500,000.

Insurance from burned Cleveland School. Where is it?

That gives the schools a grand total of $9,744,527.

All of the above figures should have been used to retire our bonded-indebtedness.

Tr. Marquette Street Social Services Building, named in honor of Cong. William Ford, was supposed to cost local taxpayers Zero (0) dollars, since we had voted down the building of an administration building.

We, the taxpayers, felt we had a perfectly sound building on Williams Street, especially with the $1,800,000 allocated for renovating thereof.

The above figures represent $9,744,527, almost one-half of the 1977 Bond Issue that we should have been able to apply to the school district's bonded-indebtedness, however, it would appear that the Bond Issue money ($19.7 million) was co-mingled, without citizen approval and government approval with the LPW grant to pay for a new administration building which we the voters voted down in the first place.

As a taxpayer, I feel we should really "throw the bums out" who I feel are grossly mismanaging our school dollars, still near the highest in the state.

The 32-mill renewal for school operating funds will be voted on in June. It may be wise to delve into the school books and ask ourselves: "Can we allow such gross mismanagement to continue?"

Another view on Vietnam

EDITOR— This letter is in response to Mr. Harry F. Moyes, III of Westland, who wrote in the lengthy response to Mona Grigg's "Who's War WAS It Anyway?" column (April 30, 1981).

First I would like to state this: America owes no one or any country an apology! At least not for our involvement in the Viet Nam war. I fought as a PARATROOPER in Viet Nam (68-69) and I totally disagree with the contents of Mr. Moyes letter.

As far as any of the South Vietnamese Army (ARVN's) personnel that operated in the field with us went, I have yet to see a soldier that "fought" bravely.

Quite the contrary, as a matter of fact. From what I "saw" in the field, they (ARVN's) were the first ones to run and hide in panic, as soon as there were a couple of incoming rounds fired! Leaving their weapons laying on the ground where they had dropped them!

When the U.S. Military forces pulled out of Viet Nam we left them with all of the military weapons and the technology to go on using those weapons and equipment in the defense of their own country. We also left them all of our Military installations that we had built during our stay there.

So why did the Communists take over their country so quickly after our withdrawal? That same kind of "bravery" that I told of earlier, that's why!

We did not abandon them, we fought their war for them for the past 12 years and left them with the necessary tools & training to carry on the task of defending themselves.

Mr. Moyes "story" is like a lot of other "fiction" novels & tales that I have heard since I returned from FIGHTING the real war. If Mr. Moyes was out there in the field and saw what the truth of the Viet Nam War was, I can guarantee you that his letter would be a lot different today, than it is.

Just who do you think was out there in the rice paddies setting up all of those "booby traps" that killed thousands of our G.I.'s? Their instructors may have been N.V.A. & Viet Cong but take an eye witness' account that it was the south Vietnamese themselves that were responsible for 90% (ore more) of them that we found!

You can go to school and study all of the histories that you want and have as many degrees as you wish—but unless you were actually there in the fighting (of any war), then you actually don't know for sure just what happened and what didn't.

That's what makes me so made about the Viet Nam war—We have all of these "professors" that weren't even in combat, that tell all of these marvelous stories and accounts of what we have done and what we should still do, but none of these "brave" soldiers had enough COURAGE to be out there in the field actually fighting and taking an active part in the WAR!

I WAS THERE! Want to know the fighting man's viewpoint of the Viet Nam War? ASK ME! Not some history student that never fought in a war.

I fully realize that this letter will most likely not get into print, as most "truths" are generally suppressed by the news media here in the United States!

However, should you care to give a front-line fighter's account of the war to the general public, please feel free to use my full name and address.

I don't mind telling the truth to anyone! I am still proud to be an "AMERICAN" and a combat "VETERAN".

Note on animal euthanasia

EDITOR — A bill to ban the high altitude decompression chamber for animal euthanasia, was signed into law, here in Michigan. That bill becomes effective June 2, 1981. A copy of that bill can be obtained from the Clerk of the House, Capitol Building, Lansing, Michigan 48909, and ask for H.B. 4895.

It appears that a few shelters, societies and pounds intend to refuse to comply with the law. Some state they are members of American Humane Assoc. (the only national association that supports the chamber). AHA reports they find the chamber humane under carefully managed circumstances. The following is an excerpt from AHA National Animal Protection newsletter.

"Animal welfare agencies share a twofold responsibility: One, to foster the humane treatment of all animals, and, two, to engender a spirit of support and cooperation within the community. Neither of these responsibilities can be dismissed without serious consequences to the well being of the agency; hence it would be unwise to ignore the needs and preferences of your patrons and benefactors. Moreover, obstinate refusal to readjust the methodology to a more acceptable means is ill advised and imprudent under the prevailing conditions and should be the inhibiting factor to the agency's progress." Signed by Martin Passaglia, Jr., Executive Director of the American Humane Association and referring to the high altitude decompression chamber.

I will make a copy of the entire editorial for anyone that sends me a 10" donation to cover expenses, and a long self-addressed, stamped envelope, to P.O. Box 3343, Center Line, MI 48015.

If you are a taxpayer or a financial contributor to one of the rebel societies, shelters and/or animal pounds, you should take heed and report that agency to your local government body.

Compliance with the law must be at our insistence, or the laws will serve no purpose. Animal loving persons are already aware that pet ownership is not just a right, it is a privilege and a responsibility. Demand our agencies comply with the law... and force the issue.

School election stirs dispute

EDITOR — I am deeply disturbed by the endorsement of school board candidates by the Wayne-Westland principals union (WWBAA). Their current endorsements to me, highlight a self-serving purpose of supporting candidates who they believe will best support them.

I intend to remember this if and when I receive their endorsement material.

Fred Warmbier and Dave Moranty have many years of active service and have demonstrated a true concern for our children. The biased endorsement of this union, I feel, intentionally ignores the dedication in favor of more self-serving candidates.

In the past few years, Fred Warmbier as an elected board trustee, has had cause to question and fault certain recommendations and portions of their contracts. The principals lesson appears clear — don't disagree with what they want!

Dave Moranty has actively attended and participated in many board meetings over the past several years. Moranty, placing third in the last school board election, subsequently missed being appointed to a vacancy due to political maneuvering.

I know him personally and can attest to his concern, independence, integrity and dedication. I would not hesitate to recommend him enthusiastically. With all due respect to the many abilities of candidate DeSaege, I note that he is presently employed as a school administrator in an adjoining school district and was formerly a school principal.

It was not too long ago that our district was deeply embroiled in the many differences of opinions regarding how effective, independent, and unbiased such an administrator — board member could be.

I believe we need completely unbiased lay board members. One cannot serve two masters.

I would also expect that our Superintendent would strictly enforce a policy requiring that all political activity by school employees in any election be conducted off school property.

I have heard of too many instances where our school time, material and facilities have been used to promote employee or union political concerns.

In many instances some of these employees neither live nor pay the high taxes of the Wayne-Westland School District.

Personally, I reject the school principals biased and self-serving endorsements! I will vote for Fred Warmbier and Dave Moranty. They have experience and are concerned.

Lions say 'Thank You'

EDITOR — When the Belleville Lions took to the streets and banks of their community to raise funds to help the blind, they were met by some of the kindest, most unselfish people that can be found.

With rising prices and unemployment, our club set a financial goal that was exceeded. Thanks to people who care about those less fortunate than themselves.

The money raised will go to help the blind in several ways such as Leader Dog for the Blind, Michigan Eye Bank, glasses for the needy plus many other projects. We also make it our responsibility to invest in our community for things like Little League and playground equipment.

Fellow citizens of Belleville and the area take pride in your community because the money you donated will help those people who have never shared in the beautiful sights of life.

When I'm holding my beautifully healthy baby, I sometimes wonder what it would be like for parents to bring home a blind baby. A baby not being able to see its father make those silly faces, to make him grin and giggle.

A baby not being able to see the expression of love in its mother's eyes when she kisses him/her.

The Belleville Lions Club would like to thank all of you who helped "Touch a Life With Hope".

We need less 'government'

EDITOR — I wonder if the people who went to the polls on May 19 understood that the only reason the referendum is necessary is to give the legislature the right to increase the sales and use tax.

A referendum is certainly not necessary to make changes in the property tax and if you don't believe that, think about the equalization of property taxes—the tax takers didn't need your approval for that, did they?

What are the renters going to get out of all this? If a renter does not presently pay local income tax, is his tax bill going to increase? Is the renter going to end up subsidizing the property owner?

If the outcome of all this is an increase in the gross revenues of the state, then we are all losers, even those of us who realize a short term gain. We should all be striving to reduce the impact of all levels of government on our lives and this means rejection of Proposition A.

Girls deserve better coverage

EDITOR — I have received my Associated Newspapers' sports section and again I am very disappointed. There was a very nice write-up on the Wayne girls' track team in regards to the regionals at Highland Park, but nothing about the Westland John Glenn team that was also in that regional.

Isn't there anything we can do to correct this biased situation?

I guess the girls' track team at John Glenn is unfortunately running into the same problem they did last year as far as coverage for Glenn, as well as Wayne. Is the problem again lack of someone submitting results to you?

Trust, and live each day

Changes come so fast at times, 'tis hard to keep apace. We just get used to one and — whoops! — another takes its place. Many things are changing since the rise of Women's Lib; They'd like to change the notion that Eve came from Adam's rib. Well, I suppose they have a right to help their cause along; But who is left to keep the home, and make the family strong? Now macho men are all the rage, the young girls hang about them. While many of us smile at that, we'd rather do without them. Young people do their own thing now (they say it's all OUR fault). And morals are declining on a downhill somersault. It seems there is no limit to dilemmas we must face: Inflation, crime, and taxes hit us at a constant pace; A world of hunger, war, disasters; fears beset our way. How can we plan a future when we cannot hold today? The law has changed its basic stance; judges reach out for power, While citizens like you and I can only groan and glower.

At last we have a new man in the presidential chair. That is a change, but will it change the common man's despair? There is no answer to allay man's fears, or quench his rage — Man is his own worst enemy, as noted through the ages. So what to do? Permissiveness was tried, and sadly failed. We can't go back to other times when simpler rules prevailed. No can we stand aside and wait, waiting for something new — Our hapless minds might be undone, not knowing what to do. But there is help for every one to face our present state. And live within this troubled world, smiling amid the hate: There is a HIGHER MIND, you see, if we will listen in And let Him mold us to His will — then LIVING can begin! For living with the Mind of Christ within us, I am sure, Is what is needed to supply the ANSWER and the CURE.

For God, Who rules in wisdom, would in each heart love to reign. How can we turn from Him and hope His blessings to obtain? This God, Who never changes, wants a change in you and me So we can have His peace, His love, and know His liberty. Christ died for that upon the cross — His motive was pure love. Thank God that He arose again! And rules now from above! He is the ONE to lean upon; He is our hope and stay. Our dollars claim "IN GOD WE TRUST"; trust, then! And live each day!

Reflections

When a child finds 'Jesus'

My little granddaughter has discovered the joys of 'churching around.'

She goes to Sunday School with one little friend, to choir practice with another, and to a young people's meeting on still another night, all at different churches.

"Grandma," she beamed after one of her visits. "I've found Jesus."

This new found joy of hers has proven to me once again that life actually goes in cycles, and that there is really never anything new from one generation to the next.

About ten years ago the youngest one in my family was enjoying the same pastime.

One evening, after one of these meetings, she came running into the house, up the stairs and banged on the bathroom door. I put down my book, crawled out of the tub, and wrapped in a couple of towels, peeked out at her.

"Mama, mama," she cried. "I've accepted Jesus as my personal savior and I've taken him into my heart."

Her pink cheeks and her sparkling eyes told me she was terribly happy about her new boarder, and so I brushed the hair off her nose, and kissed her.

Her slightly bigger brother went past the door and gave a loud howl of laughter, and she bopped him one.

While we were wiping off the blood she plopped down in the middle of the bathroom floor and began to cry.

"Now you've made me lose Jesus out my heart," she wailed at her brother. Suddenly I wasn't a mother wiping blood from the face of a little kid who had just been bopped by a wee miss who had just taken Jesus into her heart. I was six years old, standing with my five-year-old sister in the middle of a big old kitchen, watching my mother cry.

She was crying, because, like my little girl and my little granddaughter she "churched around." This was slightly before she discovered that she walked hand in hand with her God, and she was still searching for that hand.

She had come home that evening, her face glowing, her eyes shining, and laughter rolling out of her.

"I've found it," she told my father. "I've found it."

Putting his pipe aside my father prepared to listen.

In a little church called the Nazarenes, she told him, she had found what she had been looking for. She was sanctified.

Well, I tell you, my little sister and I were pretty impressed, and we watched our mother go singing about the house all the rest of the evening, and far into the next day.

And then my sister wanted something that belonged to me. She didn't ask, she just took it. And I bopped her one. I pulled her hair, and I took my toy right back. After all, I was the biggest. But naturally that didn't stop that little wretch.

And right in the middle of the melee, a whirling dervish appeared, grabbing the boy and smacking us some good ones.

And then she stomped her feet and plopped herself down on a stool and began to cry.

We watched her in awe, not knowing what to do as our mother moaned, "Now, you've made me lose my sanctification!"

Some thoughts on Spring

Somebody at the University of Michigan did a survey once about changing jobs. It turned out that more people changed jobs in the spring than at any other time of the year.

Something about cycles.

When the earth renewed itself, it brought out some ancient, latent renewal urge in people, too.

Of course, it isn't just jobs that change in the spring.

I remember reading somewhere that the early pioneers chose the spring to change their underwear. Hundreds and hundreds of pairs of longjohns hanging on tree branches all over the wilderness.

Can you just imagine what life indoors along about March must have been like?

No wonder somebody invented spring cleaning. Phew!

I never really thought about it much (and I probably won't again), but that must be how spring cleaning came into vogue, even though there were other good reasons for the traditional "spring cleaning" ritual.

After a long, hard winter the housewives of America couldn't say to anybody, "Take this job and shove it", because nobody in those days thought taking care of a house was really a job. It was just something somebody female did to pass the time of day, since she didn't have anything better to do anyway.

I'd be willing to bet it was a man who invented the rug beater. A man with a wife. He knew that, come spring, he would have a raving maniac on his hands, so he handed her a weapon and told her to use it on the rugs. So she beat the rugs and stretched the curtains and put away the winter quilts and ticks and slipcovers and filled mason jars with lilacs and changed her house, if not her job.

Actually, now that I think of it even more (and this will be the last time), with all our modern conveniences and sootless central heating, it isn't so much spring cleaning as it is spring changing.

Everybody needs a change in the spring.

There are more new cars on the road, for instance, in the spring than at any other time of the year. Auto salesmen like nothing better than to watch the first spring rains wash away the last of the road salts.

There are more "For Sale" signs in front of houses in the spring, too. The first green buds bring out the same urges our ancient, nomadic ancestors must have felt in eons past. Spring is the time to look for greener pastures, if only just a block away.

I'd also be willing to bet that more people decide to change partners during the time of the vernal equinox than at any other time of the year. I'd also bet that, on the first long, cold winter's night they wonder what ever possessed them.

But about the jobs, which is how this whole thing got started. They've even come out with a movie now, called "Take This Job and Shove It". I'll bet my last nickel (I'm not usually such a betting person—must be the weather) that the timing of it's debut wasn't accidental. Somebody in filmdom must have read that same U of M survey.

What better time than spring to release a movie about taking jobs and shoving them?

Brilliant strategy. Ace.

The movie may be the dumbest thing to happen this spring (and I'll bet my last dime it'll be dumb), but the strategy was brilliant.

But about that survey.

The reason I know so much about that survey is that I was working at the University of Michigan at the time the "changing jobs in the spring" thing came out. And... wouldn't you know? I was thinking about changing jobs. I was sick to death of the one I had, but—of course—after that silly survey came out and everybody was talking about it, I didn't dare tell anyone to take that particular job and shove it (actually, I probably wouldn't have said it in just that way, anyway, since that particular song hadn't even been written yet).

For the first time in the history of our department, nobody changed jobs during the months of March, April and May. We all left in June, instead.

One man show: Versatile Inkster performer is confident West Coast trip will bring success

By DENNIS NIEMIEC
Playtime Coordinator

He's a dancer. And also a singer, director, producer, choreographer, actor and model. Even a stripper.

Dennis Williams is, in a word, "versatile." The 25-year-old Inkster performer began dancing for audiences at the age of eight. With his father, Fred, as his manager, Williams was the leader of a band at 13. His group, the Supersonics, played throughout the metropolitan area and won a talent show sponsored by radio station WCHB.

Much has transpired since Williams' early entertainment days.

"I performed in some sleazy places," Williams recalled last week. "I've had tomatoes thrown at me, beer cans... one time a bar fight broke out in this place in Inkster and I nearly got shot."

"Back in those days my father would make me stay in the dressing room after we'd finished playing," he added, "because of my age. I don't play at those kind of places anymore but that experience has given me more appreciation for where I'm at now."

Williams, who spent a year directing the Detroit Pistons "Classy Chassis" cheerleaders, maintains a vigorous work schedule. A model for the Auston's Modeling and Finishing School, he handles a variety of assignments, including teaching and performing at private shows.

Then there's the private lessons — "I enjoy going to school," he admitted. Williams presently takes classes in dance, acting, singing and French.

"I like people who push themselves," said Williams, sipping from a glass of Lambrusco at the site of his latest dinner theatre production, the Tigris Restaurant in Romulus. Recently this Inkster High graduate directed, produced and starred in the musical, "I Want to Dance," which featured some 20 cast members.

Encouraged by audience reaction to the show, Williams plans on producing a repeat production in the fall.

"It was a quite different experience," he explained. "As a director you have to deal with the entertainers' temperament and entertainers can be moody."

But the cast was a very hard working group."

It was the desire to perform before a live audience together with a hefty cash inducement that prompted Williams to start his male strip-tease show.

"I showed up at this Canadian club to do what I thought was a dancing act two years ago," recalled Williams. "When I found out it was a strip show I was horrified. And there were guys and women in the crowd—I didn't like the men being there at all."

"But to be a good performer you have to perform in front of all kinds of audiences," he continued. "I only perform for women now. And no, I don't take off all my clothes."

"The money is excellent (approximately $1000 per week plus tips totalling nearly half that amount)," revealed Williams, whose act at lounges throughout the area features a silver costume, glitter in his hair, and explosions of smoke from his hands. "Women are animals, sometimes."

Dancing still remains Williams' "first love," despite his multi-faceted endeavors in the entertainment world. However, he's quick to point out that dancing does not generally reap large financial gains.

So where does that leave a well rounded performer?

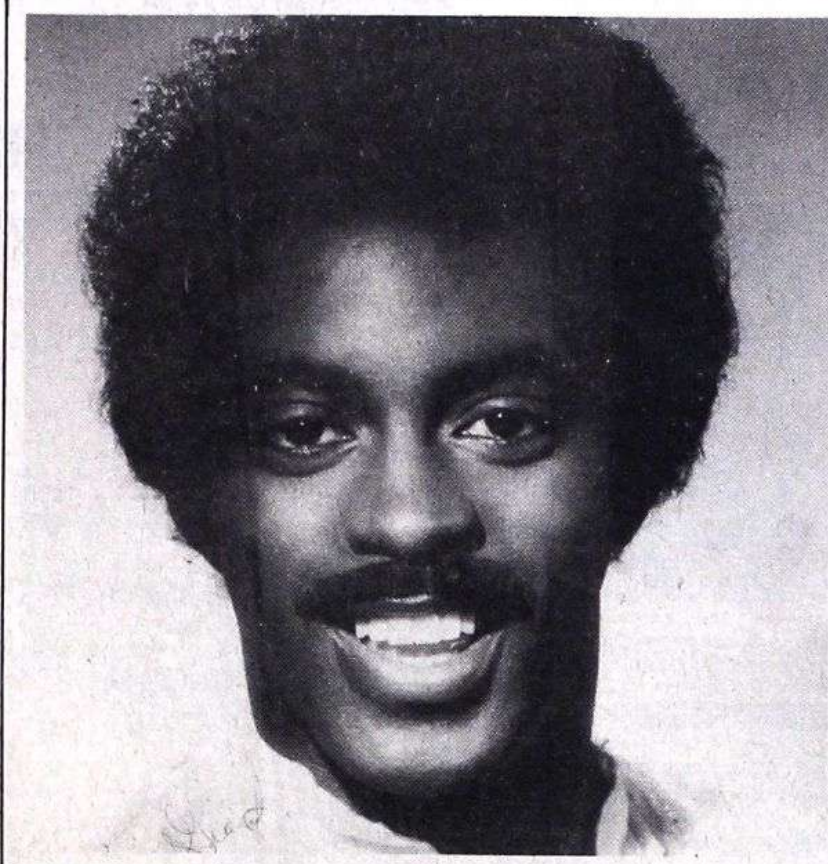

It leaves him busy, in this case. Along with the return of "I Want to Dance," Williams hopes to produce a fashion show in July and is interested in establishing a community theatre group in Inkster, where he directed high school talent shows as a teenager. And his most important venture could well turn out to be a trip to California in September.

Going to be discovered on the West Coast?

"Definitely," he responded. "Friends have told me that I have the talent to work in television or movies. I'm confident and determined to make it whether in California, here or wherever."

"What I'd like to do is a Las Vegas or Broadway style show," Williams added. "The key is versatility — look at superstars such as Sammy Davis Jr. They can do more than one thing. When I only do one type of work, I get bored."

With a family that's 100 percent behind his career and a range of talents including saxophone playing to dancing to modeling to singing and directing, Williams seems a good bet to find a niche in the entertainment world. And he wouldn't find that boring at all.

'The Hand' actually tells a story

"The Hand" From Orion Pictures, released through Warner Bros. Directed and written by Oliver Stone. Starring Michael Caine, Andrea Marcovicci, Annie McEnroe. Rated "R."

By J.T. YURKO
Special to Playtime

What separates "The Hand" from dozens of other horror films is that, amazingly enough, there is actually a story here.

There is tension and suspense and things that go bump in the night, but there is also a psychology and logic to the actions going on, rather than just some maniac who got jilted on prom night or his wedding day or Friday the 13th, and so goes around cutting up everyone in sight.

Michael Caine plays a cartoonist who loses his right hand in a traffic accident. His wife and the police search for the severed hand in the fields of weeds and grass along the highway, but they never find it. Very soon, however, it becomes evident that the hand has found them.

Being haunted by a severed limb is certainly enough of a premise for any other schlock horror film, but director and screenplay author Oliver Stone uses his own guiding hand to keep us guessing about "the hand." Is it real, or just an illusion of Caine's brought about by the trauma of losing the hand he used to draw the cartoons by which he made his living?

Giving life to the severed hand is special effects wizard Carlo Rambaldi who gave form and movement to the "Alien" as well as to the largest hand in the history of the cinema in the re-make of "King Kong."

Many of the shots of the hand are fairly predictable, such as the required subjective shot in which we see the world from the viewpoint of the crawling limb. Interestingly on the soundtrack at these moments is the sound of breathing, something anatomically impossible, and also a little silly.

Many of the shockers of the film are also telegraphed by the soundtrack with its overuse of the sound of a human heartbeat.

For those lovers of guts and gore there are not the buckets of blood one sees in other films of the genre, and that, combined with a psychologically plausible premise places this film more in the hands of Rod Serling than Jack the Ripper.

Michael Caine stars in horror film.

Their smiles are unforgettable. And if you think your're seeing double, that's understandable, since Sharlene (left) and Kristine Roosa of Westland are twins. The seven-year-old youngsters were asked to crack their best smiles during a candy sale at their school. They were quick to oblige.

Hilberry features six plays

Six modern plays will be featured during the 1981 Hilberry Summer Theatre Festival, running from June 10 through July 18.

Running from June 10 through July 18, the varied program includes a musical, an evening of short pieces by black American authors, works by Englishmen Noel Coward and Alan Ayckbourn, and by Americans Sam Shepard and Neil Simon.

In the Hilberry Theatre, the season will open with a musical spoof of Agatha Christie Murder Mysteries, "Something's Afoot" by James McDonald, David Vos and Robert Gerlach, running June 10-13 and 17-20. Next will come a revival of the Hilberry's final production of the current season, Noel Coward's evening of three one-act plays, "Tonight at 8:30," scheduled for June 24-27 and July 1-4.

This will be followed by Alan Ayckbourn's "Bedroom Farce," another satiric comedy success by the author of "Absurd Person Singular," "How the Other Half Loves" and "Absent Friends." The Ayckbourn farce will close the season upstairs, playing July 8-11 and 15-18.

Downstairs in the Studio Theatre, the season will begin with an evening of short pieces by black American authors under the title "Thinking of You: Tales from Black America." Scheduled for June 10-13 and 17-20, it will include works from the early 1900s up to the present. The 1979 Pulitzer Prize-winning play, "Buried Child" by Sam Shepard, one of our most prolific contemporary playwrights, will follow on June 24-27 and July 1-4.

Closing the season in the Studio will be Neil Simon's "California Suite," his four-part comedy which was a hit on both stage and screen. Performance dates are July 8-11 and 15-18.

Strawberry conserve and jam

With strawberry season fast approaching and the Belleville Strawberry Festival on the horizon, what could be more fitting than a couple recipes calling for those luscious red morsels which are so pleasing to the palate.

General Foods, whose products are part of our everyday living, has provided us with a descriptive photograph and two "canning" recipes. For those who like to preserve part of their strawberry pickings for winter breakfasts, these jams and conserves can help us recall those lovely warm summer days when berries were in great abundance.

Strawberry Orange Honey Conserve

2 cups prepared fruit (about 1-1/2 pt. fully ripe strawberries and 1 medium orange)
1/4 cup finely chopped walnuts
1 cup honey
3 cups (1-1/4 lb.) sugar
3/4 cup water
1 box (1-3/4 oz.) powdered fruit pectin

First prepare the fruit. Stem and thoroughly crush, one layer at a time, about 1-1/2 pints strawberries. Measure 1-1/2 cups into large bowl or pan. Section orange, discarding peel. Dice the sections and measure 1/2 cup. Add orange sections and nuts to strawberries.

Then make the conserve. Thoroughly mix honey and sugar into fruit; let stand 10 minutes. Mix water and fruit pectin in small saucepan. Bring to a full boil and boil 1 minute, stirring constantly. Stir into fruit. Continue stirring 3 minutes. (A few sugar crystals will remain.) Ladle quickly into scalded containers. Cover at once with tight lids. Let stand at room temperature 24 hours; then store in freezer. Small amounts may be covered and stored in refrigerator, up to 3 weeks. Makes about 6 cups or about 7 (8 fl. oz.) containers.

Strawberry Rhubarb Jam

1-3/4 cups prepared fruit (about 1 pt. fully ripe strawberries and 1/2 lb. rhubarb)
4 cups (1-3/4 lb.) sugar
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 pouch liquid fruit pectin

First prepare the fruit. Stem and thoroughly crush, one layer at a time, about 1 pint strawberries. Measure 1-1/4 cups into large bowl or pan. Finely grind about 1/2 pound unpeeled rhubarb. Measure 1/2 cup; add to strawberries.

Then make the jam. Thoroughly mix sugar into fruit; let stand 10 minutes. Add lemon juice to fruit pectin in small bowl. Stir into fruit mixture. Continue stirring 3 minutes. (A few sugar crystals will remain.) Ladle quickly into scalded containers. Cover at once with tight lids. Let stand at room temperature 24 hours; then store in freezer. Small amounts may be covered and stored in refrigerator up to 3 weeks. Makes about 4 cups or about 5 (8 fl. oz.) containers.

Past Matrons elect Roberta Pond president

The regular meeting of the Past Matron's Association of Belleville Chapter No. 73, OES, was held at the First United Methodist Church with Past Matron Marie Murphy hostess.

The business meeting was conducted by the retiring president, Pauline Quinley. Devotions were in charge of Dorothy Kellas.

Florence Sugars installed the newly elected officers: Roberta Pond, president; Connie Gubaci, vice-president; Pauline Quinley, secretary; and Frances McAtee, treasurer.

The newly appointed chaplain, Mae Fielder, being absent, will be installed later.

Lucky numbers were drawn by Lenore Gaddy, Roberta Pond and Dorothy Kellas who received potted chrysanthemums.

potpourri

By Lee Smith -- Suburban Living Editor

Working in such close proximity to the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce, one can't help but become attuned to the trials and tribulations which beset Miz Van B's little office. (If you've been in to see us, you know her desk is just across the way from our Enterprise-Roman sector and we see and hear just about everything that occurs in that north-west corner. And it isn't eavesdropping either.)

Last Thursday, with a board meeting set for that noon-hour, all the talk, enthusiasm, smiles, frowns, up and downs dealt with the upcoming Strawberry Festival which is just over three weeks away.

And when Valerie Higgins emerged from her tete a tete with the CC's executive secretary, she did so with the lament, "I NEED HELP THAT DAY!" Translation being — she's undertaken the tremendous task of chairing the big parade June 20 and she's suddenly aware that there are more participants than she can handle with her meager crew. Her S.O.S. simply means SHE NEEDS HELP, assistants who'll lend a hand that morning to line up the floats, bands and other marching units which will comprise the caravan.

Anyone with a little time that morning — 9:30 to be specific — is asked to please give Val a call at 699-2714. Line-up is set for 10 and the whole show gets underway at 11 so you'll be involved less than two hours. Here's your chance to be a director, foreman, boss-man (under Val's tutelage, of course) for a short period of your life. Jump on that bandwagon if you can, okay?

THEN IN OUR OWN NICHE, we have Diane who (for the fourth annual year) is heading the Strawberry Queen contest. She'd just like to remind all you young women out there that if you're 17 to 22 and unmarried and a Belleville or Van Buren Township resident, you are eligible to enter. The deadline is May 29 and all you have to do is call her at 697-9191 for the particulars.

This year, talent will enter the picture and contestants will be judged on that as well as poise and appearance in evening dress.

Prizes for the 1981 winner are still pouring in but some of the top enticements include a $50 savings bond, tickets to Cedar Pointe, jewelry and gift certificates for clothing and hair styling and a cash prize for the area's future "royalty."

One other reminder — this year's contest is being held one week earlier than usual so that festival workers might attend the festivities, in order to have access to an auditorium and piano and to afford contestants a less harried atmosphere for the proceedings. With judges coming in from outlying areas, the program will get underway promptly at 7:30 p.m. June 12.

If you're sick and tired of those big, big prices on such small items as packaged puddings, you just might appreciate an economical recipe for a basic pudding mix. That is, if your family is big on puddings for desserts or if you, yourself, use them as pie, cake and eclair fillings.

This recipe, which is contained in a booklet I sent for to the Washtenaw County Cooperative Extension, makes LOTS and includes six variations from which to choose.

BASIC PUDDING MIX

8 c. non-fat dry milk powder or
10 3/4 c. instant non-fat dry milk
4 c. sugar
1 lb. corn starch (3 cups)
1 tsp. salt

Mix all ingredients thoroughly. Make sure corn starch is blended in well. Store in covered container or individual 1-cup packages. This makes the equivalent of 12 packages (3 1/4 ounce size) commercially-made pudding mix.

To make four servings: Place 1 cup basic mix in medium saucepan. Add 2 cups boiling water. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thickened. (For richer pudding, add one beaten egg.)

VARIATIONS:

Vanilla Pudding — Add 1 tsp. vanilla and 1 T. margarine before removing from heat.

Chocolate Pudding — Add 1 square chocolate or 2 to 4 T. cocoa before removing from heat.

Coconut Pudding — Add 1/2 c. coconut to vanilla pudding.

Lemon Pudding — Add 1 T. fresh lemon juice and 1 T. butter. Grated lemon rind is optional.

Banana Pudding — Add 1 or 2 sliced or mashed bananas to cooled pudding.

Butterscotch Pudding — Use dark brown sugar in place of white sugar in basic mix.

Note: If you prefer a less firm pudding, decrease mix to 3/4 cup for each 2 cups of water.

MORE ABOUT US, THE AVERAGE AMERICAN

You're among the average person in this country if you mail four letters or checks a week and get 13 letters and bills, two magazines and four ads. Only one of every eight pieces of our mail is a real letter. And Thursday's mail is the heaviest of the week, on the average.

The average family in America spends 10.5 hours a day, seven days a week, doing housework—everything from giving the dog a bath to writing a check to pay a bill. And here is the unsurprising fact — wives do the most!

In a typical day, the modern full-time housewife spends 2 hours, 18 minutes fixing meals or cleaning up after them; 1 hour, 36 minutes taking care of the house; 1 hour, 48 minutes taking care of clothes; 1 hour, 48 minutes taking care of the members of the family and 1 hour shopping and doing paperwork.

The average career woman buys 22 pairs of pantyhose a year; the average college woman buys nine.

Today's average farmer uses five times as much fertilizer as his father did in 1950. Gets a bigger crop, too!

The average restaurant does a fifth of its weekly business on Saturday and less than a 10th on a Monday.

The average American consumes about 4.5 pounds of additives each year. That's because America's food processors include about 1 billion pounds of additives a year to improve the texture, culture and shelf life of their products.

AND WHILE ON THE SUBJECT of the average person, it was the American statistician who turned the "common" man, the "ordinary" man and the "man in the street" into the "average" man. Although no statistician has ever met him, or ever expects to, this arithmetically mean personage is a favorite figure in statistics.

Montaigne has a keen word to say on the subject. "I consider myself an average man," he observed, "except in the fact that I consider myself as such." The wise Frenchman knew that the average man always considers himself ABOVE the average.

The man of average vanity, ability and intelligence is the object of caricature, especially in quips, and is often turned against his feminine counterpart. He has been variously described as the person who has never been photographed, yet is seen everywhere except in the mirror, and who gets mad when referred to as the "average" man.

Although the Victorian-type novel is not usually my first choice when searching for a new book at the library or book store, I have to include a Dorothy Eden work every so often; just for the pure whimsicality of it.

Her latest, "American Heiress", has the usual potpourri of stereotyped characters and incidences — rich girl, illegitimate poor girl working as her maid, dashing English suitor, wartime tragedy, deception, jealousy, mistrust, scheming and, ah yes, love that overcomes all evil.

It's an easy reader (two evenings should do it) and will at least lift you from the doldrums of today's depressing economy and senseless violence. Eden's 16th bit of fiction, it's a mere 251 pages.

THE BOTTOM LINE: An old-timer is one who remembers when sex wasn't a spectator sport.

Dawn Bonnell is 1981 recipient of Genevieve Clark Scholarship

For the fifth consecutive year, the GFWC Belleville Study Club has awarded its Genevieve Clark Scholarship in the amount of $310 to Dawn Bonnell of Ypsilanti. The Van Buren Garden Club, the Episcopal Church Women, the GFWC Belleville Women's Study Club, Girl Scout Troop 369, Deborah Nieman of Wayne, N.J. and Connie Etter made contributions to the scholarship fund.

Ms. Bonnell, the mother of two children, was enrolled at Washtenaw Community College where she earned an associate degree in chemistry in April. In the fall she will continue her studies in a chemical engineering program at the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor. In addition to being on the Dean's Honor List, Ms. Bonnell has served on the Children's Advisory Committee at Washtenaw Community College.

Ms. Bonnell was guest of honor at a dinner May 20 at the Woodstone Inn where the Junior Study Club held its closing banquet. Highlight of the evening was presentation of the scholarship for her outstanding qualifications.

Bennett, Harrison to marry

The engagement and summer wedding plans of Nancy Bennett and Michael Harrison are announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bennett of 27520 Van Born Rd., Westland.

The bride-elect, who has chosen a July 18 altar date, is a graduate of Taylor Center High School, State College of Beauty and the Livonia Business Machines Institute and holds an associate degree in commerce from Henry Ford Community College. She formerly was employed by Flying Tigers Airlines at Metro Airport.

Her fiancé, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Harrison of 23565 Rust Rd., New Boston, graduated from Huron High School and is now with B&V Investments.

Gierak, Collins repeat vows at Calvary Baptist Church

Dawn Marie Collins and Robert John Gierak, both of Romulus, exchanged marriage vows recently at the Calvary Baptist Church of Wayne before Dr. Weldon Spracklen and some 250 assembled guests.

Arrangements of pink and brown silk roses graced the altar for the five o'clock rite as the bride approached her waiting bridegroom on the arm of her father.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd J. Collins of Walnut Drive, Romulus, Dawn chose a gown of sata peau point d'spirit lace and silk venise lace designed with a high neckline, long full sleeves and a chapel train.

A little Juliet cap secured her fingertip veil which was edged with lace and a cascade of peach, brown and white silk roses completed her ensemble.

Mrs. David Mandell of Lake Orion was her sister's matron of honor in a frost-colored sleeveless A-line gown styled with a pleated skirt and sheer cape. She, too, carried silk peach and brown roses and tucked a peach rose in her hair.

Bridesmaids in identical peach-colored frocks included Kelley Kincaid of Williamsburg, N.Y.; Karen Gierak, sister of the bridegroom; Michelle DeChene and Beverly Kubiak, all of Romulus, and Janice Holmes of Flat Rock.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Gierak of Northline Road, Romulus, the bridegroom asked Gary Britz of Romulus to serve as best man. The corps of ushers was made up of Floyd W. Collins, brother of the bride; Douglas White of Milford, nephew of the bride; Marty Gierak, brother of the bridegroom; Joe Schieda and Duane Moffitt.

At the reception which followed at the Romulus Progressive Hall, Mrs. Collins greeted guests in a formal mint green gown to which she pinned her corsage of white orchids. Similar flowers accented the royal blue gown which the bridegroom's mother chose for the occasion.

Making their home on Northline Road, Romulus, the newlyweds plan a delayed honeymoon to Niagara Falls and the Pocono Mountains sometime in June.

The bride, a student at Eastern Michigan University, works parttime at the Living Center, Inc. of Taylor. Her husband, a 1979 alumnus of Northwood Institute, is employed by Host International in Romulus.

MR. AND MRS. ROBERT J. GIERAK

Marjorie Maria Siegal and Robert Michael Martinez are engaged and making plans for an October 17 wedding. Announcement of their betrothal is made by the bride-elect's mother, Patricia Marie Siegal of 28781 Halecreek, Romulus. The prospective bridegroom, who resides at 6816 Inkster Rd., Romulus, graduated with high honors from Romulus High School, attended Central Michigan University for two years and is now working as a photographer for Fox Portrait Studios. St. Paul's Lutheran Church in New Boston has been reserved for the young couple's wedding.

TREAT FOR TOTS, TEENAGERS

With about four months of warm — if not downright hot — weather just around the corner and with the cost of commercial ice cream inching up the economic ladder, mothers may be well advised to look to less expensive treats for youngsters.

Fruit-Flavored Freeze is a light frozen dessert economically made with one 2-quart envelope of Kool-Aid sugar-sweetened soft drink mix and a 13-oz. can of evaporated milk. To make 12 servings, dissolve a favorite flavor of the sugar-sweetened mix in ½ cup hot water. Chill evaporated milk in shallow pan in freezer for about 20 minutes or until soft crystals form around edge of pan. Spoon into a chilled bowl — and chilling is very important for whipping success — and beat until soft peaks form. Gradually add soft drink mixture and continue beating until mixture will stand in stiff peaks. Spoon into a shallow pan and freeze until firm — about 3 to 4 hours.

Glenn eliminates Wayne from playoff

Westland John Glenn's ace pitcher John Paz shackled Wayne Memorial on a 7-hitter and eliminated their neighboring rivals in the pre-districts 4-1 Friday to advance to the Class A District Tournament on Saturday.

Coach Norm Hoenes' crew will take a 17-5 over-all record into the district competition at Ann Arbor Huron which begins at 10 a.m.

Paz, who has shutout the Zebras earlier in the season, found himself in a pitcher's duel with Gene Piscopink. Both hurlers gathered goose eggs for four innings.

The Westlanders however scored twice in the top of the second on Watts' double, a bunt single by Tony Dalimonte and Troy Lindon's run-scoring base hit. When Greg Kanclarz' grounder was booted, Dalimonte was able to reach home.

Glenn made it a 3-0 ballgame in the sixth as Filary led off with a single, his second of three hits for the game, moved to second when Mike Pranke singled.

Wins Great Lakes

Wayne leaves best for last meet

Wayne Memorial left their best for the last as Coach Ernie Righetti's runners finished atop of the Great Lakes 8 Conference track & field meet last week.

The Zebras, who dropped dual meets to league leaders, Taylor Center and Fordson, and also tied one other team during the dual meet season, came back to garner 137 points to outdistance Monroe (105), Taylor Center (101), Fordson (84), Wyandotte (34), Taylor Truman (23) and Lincoln Park (12).

However, because the dual meet and the league meet are combined to determine the league champ, Wayne had to settle for second place on the over-all standings, a half-point away from the top, Taylor Center.

"We received a total effort from everyone," said Righetti. "And it was out best effort of the year by far. We showed we had a lot of depth and, once we had our injured people back, it reflected in the finals."

Taylor Center earned the title, while Wayne and Monroe were deadlocked in second.

"These kids never gave up the entire year," Righetti stressed, "they stuck with it and deserve a lot of credit. Talent-wise we may not have been as strong as some other years, but the character and desire of this team showed up when it counted."

Wayne placed both its 440-yard relay team (Wayne Davis, Mack Martin, Rick Rogers and Vern Bufford), along with its mile relay team of Vince Patterson, Will Depetro, Wayne Davis and Shawn Boyer on the all-league team.

Rogers made all-league in the long jump, while Kevin Allen, a two-miler, and Wayne Davis, a sprinter (200-yards) were also give all-conference designation.

On to districts

Huddling around their winning pitcher, Paula Cardin, after she posted an impressive 4-1 victory over neighboring Westland John Glenn, Wayne Memorial's troops will head for Ann Arbor Huron on

That was all for Piscopink as Wayne coach Jim Chronowski decided to bring in Craig Poremba who unleashed a wild pitch, then lost Watts on four balls to load the bases.

That brought Dalimonte to the plate. He connected one to left field for a sacrifice fly allowing the Westlanders to put their final run on board.

Wayne averted the shutout in the last of the seventh as John Lanczki drilled a one-out, pinch-hit triple. Chronowski inserted Don Swanson into the line-up and Swanson came through with a pinch-hit blooper that scored Lanczki.

Paz avoided any further Wayne uprising when, after serving Bill Duncan a single, he got the Zebras' hottest hitter, Jim Little, on strikes, then whiffed Piscopink to end the game.

Paz collected 10 strikeouts and walked three in chalking up the victory, while Piscopink was tagged for nine of the 11 hits, fanned five and didn't walk any in taking the loss.

Wayne dropped a doubleheader to Great Lakes 8 Conference leader, Lincoln Park, losing the opener 6-1 and the nightcap, 3-0. The two victories assured the Parkers of at least a share of the conference championship.

The two losses dipped the Zebras' over-all record to 7-14 and their league mark to 3-7.

Jerry Perusse, a junior lefthander, twirled a 2-hitter to beat Monroe, 6-2, for Wayne's third league win last week. He

Wayne's 14-game win streak erases Glenn from playoffs

Riding the crest of a 14-game winning streak, Wayne Memorial knocked off an excellent Westland John Glenn girls' softball team, 4-1, to advance to the Class A District Tournament scheduled for Saturday at Ann Arbor Huron.

Wayne hurler Paula Cardin scattered five Glenn hits, struck out five and didn't walk any to chalk up the victory. Loser Nancy Bondy gave up four hits, fanned four and issued four bases on balls in defeat.

"It was a pity that a team had to lose this one," said Wayne coach Kevin Schaum. "Both clubs played exceptionally well. We were really fortunate to win, believe me."

What did Glenn in was a 4-run sixth inning rally that was triggered by a walk notched four strikeouts and gave up six walks. Monroe got both of their runs without the help of a hit as Perusse pitched scoreless ball for six full innings.

Piscopink picked up two of the Zebras' eight hits and drove in a run and Ricky Covault has a pair of RBIs as he walked with bases loaded and ground out to chase home a run.

After a disappointing tournament-ousting defeat at the hands of Ann Arbor Huron, Belleville High's girls' softball team strung together five consecutive victories to capture the Bedford Invitational Tournament crown last week.

Coach Peg Curtis' softballers were eliminated from the pre-district round of Class A competition by a determined Ann Arbor team which won the duel 6-1. "This team eliminated us a year ago," Coach Curtis said, "then went on to finish fourth in the state. They have another excellent ball club."

In the meantime, Belleville hurler Sandy Mattson went into the record books as she fired back-to-back no-hitters at Bedford to earn Most Valuable Player accolades for the tournament.

Mattson humbled Ida 15-1 in one of her mound debuts, then came right back to stun Adrian, 11-1, again not allowing a single hit.

"It is the first time in our recollection that any pitcher here or in the area has ever tossed back-to-back no hitters," said Coach Curtis whose team has now amassed a 20-7 over-all record.

Leading the Tiger offensive attack at the tournament included Vickie Firest who pounded out 8 hits in 18 trips to the plate; team mate Kim Beckley drilled 7 hits for 15 while both Kim Thick and Anne Plava each had five hits for 15 appearances at the plate.

Belleville and Ida had a rematch in the finals as the later came out of the loser's bracket to challenge the local team for the championship. Although it fared much better in the second game, Ida lost the title, 7-5, as winning pitcher Meyer received ample relieve help from Mattson.

At that tournament Meyer also carded a 4-0 shutout over Monroe Jefferson

Romulus edges East in finale

Romulus brought the curtains down to the girls' softball season with a thrilling 17-16 victory over Garden City East High last week.

Coach Fred Coleman's ball club wound down the year with a 7-11 over-all record, while pitcher Kathy Boatright posted a 6-6 mark and an 4.1 ERA. Boatright was a power at the plate as well for the Eagles as she hammered in 19 runs and finished the campaign with a hefty .420 batting average.

Other major contributors to Romulus' best softball season included senior Sheila Johnson who had a .436 batting average and senior Tracy Barnett who carved out a .473 average with 18 RBIs.

Defensively, Lori Summerfield, a sophomore, stood out. She also hit .393 and led the team in runs batted in with 25. Sophomore Margaret Savage and Doreen Losacco, a junior, were also key figures in the 1981 campaign.

"We hit the ball extremely well all year," said Coach Coleman. "but we definitely need to work on defense for the coming year. And I feel some of these girls have a really good chance of getting college scholarships — that's the kind of class ballplayers they are."

State finals next

Glenn wins track crown

Hauling in half of the gold medals and scoring points in all 16 events, unbeaten Westland John Glenn dethroned pre-season title favorite, North Farmington, to become the Northwest Suburban Conference Track & Field king.

"I am very pleased with the over-all effort of this team," said Glenn's

Bruce Calhoun who rounded out his inaugural season as head coach with an untarnished 5-0 dual meet conference record and the title.

"No one collapsed and we weren't shutout in any event," Coach Calhoun added.

An excellent crowd at Redford Thurston watched as Glenn amassed more than 170 points and claimed gold medals in eight events.

Glenn's Armando Varona captured a first in the long jump with a leap of 20 feet, 7 inches and teammate Bob Blevis' toss of 48-feet was good for the gold in the shot put. Dale Boone was runner-up in that event.

In the 11-meter high hurdles, Westlander Mark Stonerock crossed the finish line first and the Rocket 880-meter relay team of Scott Montgomery, Rick Wilson, Tony Wilson and Varona also placed first.

Santo Campbell brought the curtains down to his prep track career with the conference gold in the 1,600 meter run, while the Glenn 400-meter relay made up of Curt Osturhout, Greg O'Neil, Montgomery and Keith Stubbs also claimed first place.

Coach Calhoun also had the best 1,600-meter relay team in Karl Steffes, Osturhout, Verona and Tony Wilson. Tony's brother, Rick, picked up the gold for his performance in the 300-meter low hurdles.

The Westlanders garnered a bunch of second places with Keith Stubbs, in the 100-meter dash; Tony Wilson, in the 400-meter dash; Steffes, in the 800-meter run and Osturhout, in the 100-meter dash.

Campbell was runner-up in the 3,200-meters.

Cline helps Western set track record

Claudette Cline, a freshman on Western Michigan University's women's track team from Romulus, had a hand in a record-setting performance at last weekend's Mid-American Conference Championships.

Cline, a graduate of Romulus High, ran one leg of WMU's 800-meter Sprint Medley Relay, which finished fourth in a school-record time of 1:47.0.

Coach Debbie Hunt's Broncos placed fifth at the first league meet, which was won by Bowling Green.

Spartans are champs for 9th time

Cherry Hill noses out Schafer for Tri-River track crown

Picked by some to finish as low as third in their league, defending champ, Cherry Hill, swept through the league season with an untarnished dual meet record and finished second at the league meet to retain the Tri-River Conference Track & Field crown for the 9th consecutive year.

Coach Dick Gordon's Spartans compiled one more point than the league meet winner, Southgate Schafer, to finish, atop of the over-all standings. They nosed out Schafer 15-14. Garden City West had 12, Taylor Kennedy 10, Crestwood 9, Melvindale 6, while Riverside (4) and Southgate (2) rounded out the team finishes.

"We performed well at the league meet and during the entire season," said Coach Gordon. "I am proud of this team because it really did the unexpected."

"At the beginning of the season we were picked third because of our youth. However, the team as a whole really came on," Gordon explained. "Also, I have to be pleased with the way our younger athletes have performed and handled the pressure, athletes like Steve Sheahan and Danny Smith."

Sheahan, a sophomore, edged out his injured teammate, Ken Winfrey, to capture the gold medal in the long jump. He leaped 21 feet, half inch to win the event. Winfrey, hampered by a hamstring injury, got the silver for his 20 feet, 5 inch performance.

Sheahan also ran a leg in the Spartans' winning effort for the 880-yard relay as Coach Gordon put together a pair of sophomores - Seahan and Danny Smith with Paul Pilat and Chico Ellis - to claim the gold in that event.

Cherry Hill's only other first place at the league meet in the 440-yard relay where Danny Warren, Jim Clark, Pilat and Winfrey were awarded a "photo finish" victory over Garden City West's foursome. Both teams posted 46.72 performances, but it was Winfrey's surge at the finish that turned the trick.

Schafer got its "margin of revenge" when the downriver club managed to win the mile relay and pick up enough points to edge out Cherry Hill, 112-108, at the league meet. They thus avenged a dual meet loss to the Spartans inflicted earlier in the season.

Track title at stake

Belleville awaits unbeaten Dearborn

With the dual meet season behind them, Belleville is set to host the annual Suburban 8 Conference Track & Field championships.

And, as Belleville Coach Dave Medley sees it, it's defending champ, Dearborn, whom his team will have to beat for the title.

"They are undefeated," Medley said, referring to Coach Bob Bridges' Pioneers out at Dearborn. "And if we're going to be a factor we'll need a lot of help from Plymouth Salem."

Medley hopes that Salem can steal enough points away from the champs so that his Tigers can sneak in. "But, believe me, everything has to fall into place in order for us to do that."

After overpowering Allen Park 115-17, and dumping neighboring rival, Ypsilanti, 83-49, Belleville will take an overall 7-1 record into the championships. The championships are scheduled to get underway at 3 p.m. (preliminaries) and the finals are at 7 p.m.

Belleville claimed 10 of the 17 events against the Braves as Tim Knowlton accounted for a double victory. The Bel-

Unbeaten in dual meet league competition this year and for the ninth successive season Cherry Hill retained the Tri-River Conference track & field title last week. Coach Dick Gordon's runners have not been defeated in their league in dual meets since the season of 1972.

Wayne captures Great Lakes 8 girls' track championship

Claiming 10 out of a possible 16 events, Wayne Memorial captured the 1981 Great Lakes 8 Conference girls' track & field championships.

Coach Floyd Carter's team strung together a perfect 4-0 dual meet league record and garnered 85½ points to easily beat out arch-rival, Monroe, for the crown. Monroe, with 53 points finished second, followed by Fordson (47), Wyandotte (36) and Lincoln Park (14½).

Wayne swept all three relay events as Coach Carter singled out the Buyck sisters — Wanda and Rhonda, along with Yolanda Alsop and Michelle Smith for the 800-meter relay. The Zebras posted the winning time of 1:48.25.

In the 440-meter relay, Wayne struck gold with the Buyck sisters, Shelly Sli-ger and Alsop who fashioned out a 51.73 for their victory, while Michelle Smith, Rhonda Buyck, Janet Wellman and Yolanda Alsop turned in a 4:11.59 to win the 1,600 meter relay.

Smith also captured first places in the 100-meter hurdles (15.13) and the 200-meter low hurdles (28.86), while teammate Pam Matyjasik earned gold for her performances in the high jump, the 200-meter dash (27.0), and became a triple individual event winner thanks to a 17 feet leap in the long jump.

Rhonda Buyck's performance of 12:95 netted the Wayne athlete a gold in the 100-meter dash.

Barker, Hall post Flat Rock victories

Flat Rock Speedway fans were treated to an opening night of close, exciting racing, with defending champ Dick Barker of Sterling Heights edging Joy Fair of Pontiac by just a car length to win the 30 lap Late Model feature Saturday evening.

The duo diced back and forth for the last half of the race after Barker took the lead from Harold Cook of Sylvania, Ohio, who led the first 15 laps. Cook wound up third, Bob Fox of Madison Heights fourth, and Harold Davis of Allen Park was fifth.

Toledo, Ohio's Chuck Hall passed Bob Studt of Dearborn Heights on the last lap to post the victory in the 12 lap Figure 8 main event. The wet infield and track surface gave everyone fits as driving was quite slick. Gary Early of Rockwood, Jack Dandy of Detroit, and Dave Miller of Dearborn Heights rounded out the top five.

The 12 lap Street Stock feature saw John Wyman hold off a hard charge by Bob Studt to take honors. The Carleton, Michigan native had Studt glued to his tail for almost the entire race. Larry Farmer of Ypsilanti, Ray Chalker of Oak Park, and Joel Smith of Dearborn followed.

Saturday night, May 23, the Late Models, Figure 8's, and Street Stocks will return to Flat Rock Speedway to do battle on the high-banked, ¼ mile asphalt oval.

Time trials begin at 6:30 and racing at 8:00 p.m. The track is located 1 mile south of Flat Rock on Telegraph Road (U.S. 24).

Collins is doing very well

Scotty Collins, former all-stater from Canton High, continued to shine for the University of Missouri in the Big 8 Baseball Conference.

A 5-10, 165-pound junior who has been a consistent 300-plus hitter, Collins usually is the leadoff hitter. He doesn't walk much, less than 15 times this season, but when he reaches base, he scores.

Collins tallied 49 runs this season, and has split time this season between third base and DH, but has played the last two games of the Big 8 tournament in the hot corner.

Scotty has twice had six-game hitting streaks and has stolen nine bases. He hit .301 during the season and went 3-for-5 and lined two doubles off Mark Littell in Mizzou's exhibition game against St. Louis Cardinals at Busch Stadium.

Balloon blastoff

Teacher Nancy Straub (center) helps some of her Wick Elementary students get ready for last week's 2nd annual Balloon Blastoff which signalled the start of Michigan Week in Romulus. Nancy was chairman of the festivities and coordinated the efforts of the large number that took part. Each balloon carried a message and return name and address of the school. By Friday, the kids were excited by the fact they had seven replies, three from Ohio, one from Indiana, one from Pennsylvania and two from Michigan.

Huron prepares for area youth fitness meet

This year the Huron Township Recreation Commission will participate in the 1981 Detroit Metropolitan Area Youth Fitness Program July 30 at Willow Park.

Detroit Metropolitan Area Youth Fitness Program originated in 1958 when John J. Considine, Superintendent of the Detroit Department of Parks and Recreation and a member of President Eisenhower's Committee on Youth Fitness, invited metropolitan recreation directors to a meeting at Belle Isle.

Following the formation of a committee, the first program was held on Belle Isle, June 1958, with twenty-two cities participating. Since that time various cities and agencies in the metropolitan area have hosted the program which presently includes approximately 60 cities and 2,500 participants.

Each participating agency conducts its own Youth Fitness Day and determines its winners in each competitive activity. These winners then compete in the Detroit Metropolitan Area Youth Fitness Program. The 2,500 finalists between 10 and 15 years of age represent upwards of one-half million youths from a nine county area in southeast Michigan.

Derived from the general pattern of the World Olympics, youngsters have the opportunity to improve their bodies as well as to be indoctrinated in all aspects of fair play and competition. The program follows the basic concepts of President Eisenhower's original Council on Youth Fitness and stresses the physical activities advocated by succeeding Presidents and their Councils on Youth Fitness.

Boys and Girls in the age groups of 10-11, 12-13, and 14-15 will be eligible to participate in the following events: shuttle relay (two boys and two girls), chinning, softball throw (distance and accuracy), running triple jump (hop, step and jump), standing long jump, running long jump, dash—Class A-75 yards, dash—Class B-60 yards, dash—Class C-50 yards. Age qualification as of September 1 of current year.

Physical Ed teachers in local schools will be correlating the Fitness Program with their Phys. Ed. classes. There will be preliminary trials during the first part of July. If any parent would be interested in helping, please contact your child's gym teacher or call 753-4466. Watch this newspaper for further notice.

Letter winners in school track in the current year or those who have been members of the varsity or reserve track teams during the most current season of the public, private, or parochial schools are not eligible to compete. AAU members who are registered in track are not eligible to compete.

Contestants must reside within the area or city which they represent.

School district bus drivers to compete for regional honors

Forty professional drivers from school districts in Wayne County will compete in a regional School Bus Rodeo on Saturday, May 30 at Henry Ford Community College, Ford Road at Evergreen in Dearborn.

Saturday's rodeo is one of 13 regional events co-sponsored by Automobile Club of Michigan and the Michigan Association for Pupil Transportation.

The top three drivers in each region will advance to the state finals in Lansing on June 13.

"The rodeos give drivers an opportunity to display their skills and provide an incentive to improve safe driving habits," said Robert Cullen, Auto Club's Safety and Traffic Engineering manager.

Drivers can earn up to 475 points on a series of tests. They are awarded a maximum of 325 points for their ability to drive a standard school bus through a prescribed obstacle course.

A written test on rules and regulations and a physical and verbal bus inspection are each worth 75 points.

Saturday's regional competition begins at 8 a.m., followed by an awards ceremony.

Havin' a 'jazzy' time

Wayne State University's Jazz Band put on a swinging concert recently for students from four Romulus schools—Romulus High School, North and South junior highs and Wick Elementary. The auditorium at South Junior High was packed for the program that was sponsored under the federally-funded NOVA (Needs, Objectives and Values in the Arts) program. NOVA is funded by a special grant through the Michigan Council for the Arts to supplement existing fine arts programs. Romulus, Wayne-Westland and Taylor school districts have each received federal funds for the program. ANP photos by Lothar E. Konietzko.

These murals were part of a project to help art students better identify with their self-image at Romulus High School. Art I and Art II Class students, taught by Mrs. Beverly Kellogg, did these full-size murals on the wall
